Design Thinking Based Campus Issue Reporting Solution

1. Problem Identification

Students face many problems on campus but do not have an easy way to report them. Common issues include broken fans and lights, water leakage, unclean areas, damaged furniture and Wi-Fi issues.

The Campus Issue Reporting App is proposed as a simple digital solution that allows students to report and track campus issues.

2. Empathize

We talked to students and collected information about their experiences with campus problems. The following questions were considered:

- Have you noticed any problem on campus?
- How do you report it now?
- Do you know whom to contact?
- Do you know if your complaint is solved?
- What would make reporting easier?

3. User Research – Key Findings

- Students do not know where to report issues.
- Complaints take time to reach the right person.
- There is no easy way to track complaint status.
- Students want a quick and simple solution.

4. User Persona

Name	Priya
Age / Role	18 / Student
Frustration	No updates about complaints
Goal	Report issues and get them solved
Need	Easy issue reporting and status tracking

5. Define – Problem Statement

“College students need a simple way to report and track campus issues because they may not know whom to contact and cannot easily know whether their complaints have been resolved.”

Why? College students

What? Difficulty in reporting and tracking campus issues

Why? Students may not know the right contact and receive no updates.

6. Ideate – Proposed Solutions

- 1. Campus Issue Reporting App – Students can report and track issues through an app.
- 2. QR Code Reporting – Students can scan a QR code and report the issue.
- 3. Digital Complaint Box – Students can submit issues digitally and receive a tracking number.
- 4. Department-wise Reporting – Students can select the department responsible for the issue.

7. Conclusion

The Campus Issue Reporting App provides a simple and organized way for students to report campus problems and track their complaints. It can help complaints reach the correct department faster and give students better visibility about the status of their issues.
